

ASTONISHMENT AND EVOCATION

The Spell of Culture in Art and Anthropology

Edited by

Ivo Strecker and Markus Verne

CONTENTS

Ivo Strecker & Markus Verne: Introduction

Part I: Image

Todd Oakley: Do pictures stare? Thoughts about attention

Philippe-Joseph Salazar: Gazing at paintings and the evocation of life

Boris Wiseman: Tangled up in blue. Symbolism and evocation

Ivo Strecker: Co-presence, astonishment and evocation in cinematography

Part II: Performance

Klaus-Peter Köpping: Captivated by ritual. Visceral visitations and the evocation of community

Jürg Gasché: The spell of riddles among the Witoto

Markus Verne: Sounds of the Past. Music, history and astonishment

James Fernandez: Tears, not so idle tears. Reflections on our entangled emotions and their disambiguation

Part III: Text

Dennis Tedlock: Stones, drumbeats, footprints and mysteries in the writing of the Other

Douglas Lewis: The translation of the said the unsaid in Sikkimese ritual texts

Barbara Tedlock: Ethnographic evocations and evocative ethnographies

Robert Hariman: Reading public culture: Reason and excess in the newspaper